

THEY SAY....

Its inevitable - opinion, judgement and conjecture can all fuel contradiction. Nowhere is that more evident than when there is talk about craft and art. These pages are an expanded version of the "They Say" article in a 1982 "NZ Potter" mag. All quotes are taken completely out of context.

[Handwritten signature] 2009

LOST IN THOUGHT

Your thoughts are created by a tiny group of cells about the size of a peanut sitting in the left hemisphere and most of us let that peanut rule our lives. We need to recognize that it is just a group of cells designed to tell stories so that we feel safe in the external world.

(Jill Bolte Taylor, brain surgeon and stroke survivor triumphant!)

ARGUE FOR YOUR LIMITATIONS, AND SURE ENOUGH THEY'RE YOURS.

Richard Bach.

Out of a thousand words written there maybe one, and one only, that in truth need be written.

The rest are wasted ink and paper and minutes given feet of lead instead of wings of light

Mikhail Naimy

We are all. Free. To do. Whatever. We want. to do.

Paulus Berensohn.

You can borrow all the flour you want but you have to bake your own bread. (unknown)

What you dislike dislikes you. Like it and let be, thus removing an obstacle from your path.

Mikhail Naimy

A mystery for you to find in each ^{moment} Seek it with the little and the big. It includes all people and all things all questions and all answers. Dorothy (Findhorn)

It matters little what you believe, so long as you don't altogether believe it

Bertrand Russell

Observation, opinion and commentary are worth, and last, about as long as the wind it takes to push them out.....Priddy

So, pay attention to your thinking, and decide if those thoughts are creating the kind of life you want. If not - then change your thoughts. It's that easy!

...Jill B Taylor